Esse Quam Videri

Darda 2013
Vol. 89

Editor's Note

This edition of the Darda is an opportunity to pause and take a look at who we, as Trevecca, claim to be. The name Trevecca means "house of Rebecca" or "a binding together in love." The name is derived from the word Trevecka, the name of a school, a castle, and a village in Wales. The school, established in 1768 by Lady Huntingdon, was an effort to "bring together" followers of John Calvin and John Wesley. Clearly, the ideas of unity, connectedness, and community are attributed to the word Trevecca. Those words describe who we are as Treveccans: we are a community, one body in Christ.

Trevecca's motto, Esse Quam Videri, means "to BE rather than to seem," and it is the theme of this edition of the Darda. The way I see it, we as individuals make up the community that we live in. The unity in the community comes from our union with Christ Jesus. Jesus commanded you and me, as individuals, to "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind. This is the first and greatest commandment, and the second is like it: 'Love your neighbor as yourself.' All the law and the prophets hang on these two commandments" (Matthew 22:37-40). A community is created when we love our God, and love each other, and ourselves. Trevecca cannot be the community its name implies if we Treveccans do not have love.

Esse Quam Videri reminds us to strive to obey Jesus' commandment to love God and to love each other.

Let us BE a community of love rather than merely seeming to be one. Let us strive to love God and each other in our day-to-day lives so that we ensure that Trevecca is a community in which persons are bound together in love.

Mounika Ramaji
Editor

"Just like a sunbeam can't separate itself from the sun, and a wave can't separate itself from the ocean, we can't separate ourselves from one another. We are all part of a vast sea of love, one indivisible divine mind."

- Marianne Williamson

President's Prologue

Dan Boone

Dr.Boone with his wife, Denise

One of the new marketing phrases heard in the marketing industry is "walking brand." This label is attached to a person who becomes the embodiment of what an organization or cause stands for. Almost like a person with a Nike swoosh tattooed on their forehead, the very presence of this person reminds you of something.

When we say that a person is the walking brand of Trevecca Nazarene University, we mean that this person embodies the values of the University in the way he or she lives. What people think of Trevecca is conditioned by what they think of this person.

Years ago a wonderful man named Howard Wall Jr. selected the motto Esse Quam Videri, "to be rather than to seem," as a fitting definition of the work of Trevecca. In a world tired of plastic facade, surface veneer, and posturing masks, we believe something that is actually what it claims to be is a gift.

But the motto is more than authenticity. What we aim to be is actually Christlike-ness. To be made like Jesus rather than to appear to be religious is our aim. As you browse this yearbook, my deepest prayer is that you will see not only the walking brand of Trevecca, but authentic Christians.

-Dan Boone

Dedication

Paula Jones

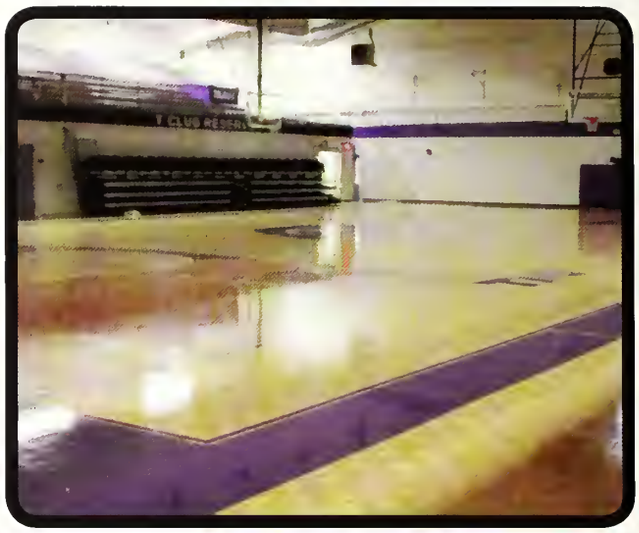

Paula Jones began working in the mailroom at Trevecca Nazarene University in 1993 when her husband, Marvin, became the worship pastor at Trevecca Community Church of the Nazarene, and she has remained in that position. For Mrs. Jones, her job is not confined only to filling mailboxes. She finds great joy in getting to know the students and a larger purpose in being a surrogate mother to the students.

When Mrs. Jones isn't in the mailroom, she can be found with her family. She and Marvin have been married for 39 years. They have two adult children, and now they are the proud grandparents of three–Raegan, Davis, and Caden. In her spare time Mrs. Jones enjoys crafts, decorating, and taking care of her family.

Mrs. Jones is characterized by her faithfulness to her family and the Trevecca community. Speaking for all Trevecca students, senior Kristin Lester described Mrs. Jones' role with students: "Mrs. Paula Jones is one of the nicest people on campus. Her commitment to her work is remarkable; she ensures that the mailroom hours are accessible to every student. She knows every student's name, and she is quick to encourage each one of us. Mrs. Jones is a blessing to Trevecca's students, and we are thankful for her!"

Trevecca students are very thankful for her caring nature and nurturing spirit. Trevecca students join with Kristin in saying, "Thank you for your presence and dedication to Trevecca, Mrs. Jones."

What's New?

In the summer the NCAA Dll notified Trevecca that it had been approved for year-two candidacy status in its efforts to join the NCAA Dll.

The traveling musical ensemble Awaken, a six-person group, began representing Trevecca in churches and schools.

In the summer of 2012, students were able to take general education classes online for the first time.

During the summer more renovations to Greathouse Science Building were completed: the second-floor was redecorated, and the fourth floor was completely renovated.

In September the University received notification that it had been officially named a Tennessee arboretum by the Arboretum Certification Committee of the Tennessee Urban Forestry Council in recognition of the University's planting and labeling of 60 different species of trees on the campus.

Donna Cavin is Trevecca's new service manager for the Caf, replacing Reneé Chilson. She has 17 years of experience in the restaurent industry and is very excited to be at Trevecca.

For the first time in its history, Trevecca broke the 1,000-student mark with a traditional undergraduate enrollment of 1,015.

Hayley Staggs, Kara Decker, Jasmine Stiles-Barnes, Louisa Duffy

The fall semester kicked off with fun- filled activities for the students to participate in and get to know each other through fellowship. The events consisted of '50s-themed block party, dodge ball tournaments, the infamous Paint-a-Palooza, and a concert that featured Dave Barnes. Welcome Week always gives great opportunity for students, especially freshmen, transfers, and returning students to make new friendships.

"It's really great that Trevecca starts off the year with an all-school worship event. Not only is it really cool to see everyone coming together to praise God, but it helps me personally focus on what's important. It reminds me of why I'm at school in the first place: to use and develop my gifts to bring God glory. It's a perfect start to the year."

Welcome Back Week '13

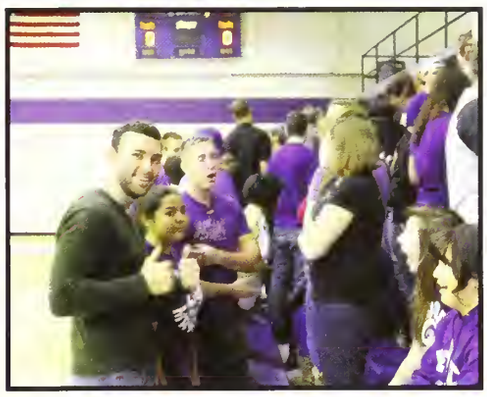

A fun-filled week welcomed students back for the new semester. Welcome Back Week started on Tuesday in CLCS with The Fire is So Delightful,which included food, fun, fellowship, and a cozy fire in the fireplace. Wednesday and Thursday nights offered all-school praise and worship and the showing of the movie Back to the Future. Friday night was the Phil Wickham Concert in Boone. Welcome Back Week concluded with a home basketball game and Celebrity Skate Night at the Brentwood Skate Center.

Homecoming 2012

Homecoming 2012, November 2 and 3, was a fun-filled and eventful weekend for students ad returning alumni. On Thursday night, November 1, students gathered for their homecoming banquet, a heroes-themed evening which included the crowning of the homecoming king and queen. Following the banquet students attended Trojan Madness, where they met the basketball teams and began building excitement for Saturday's basketball games. Founder's Day Chapel, on Friday morning, featured a panel of three graduates of Trevecca's Department of Business, who shared how former business professor Gerald Skinner had influenced their lives and careers. The campus community lined the streets for the homecoming parade, and Jars of Clay presented a concert that night. Saturday was a flurry of class reunions and alumni events, and the Trevecca basketball teams were victorious in their games.

The students go wild when Terrell Wilcox makes his dunk.

Homecoming 2012

Following Founder's Day Chapel, the University conducted a ceremony to rename the business school, now the Skinner School of Business and Technology, in honor of retired business professor Gerald Skinner. Dr. Skinner joined Trevecca's newly formed business faculty in 1969 and taught at Trevecca for seventeen years before resigning. His relationship with Trevecca continued with being a member of the Board of Trustees and the President's Advisory Council.

Homecoming 2012 ended with a concert from Jars of Clay on Friday evening in TCC.

Friday Night Live

Friday Night Live, the most anticipated event each year at Trevecca, took place on Friday, March 15, in Benson Auditorium. This event, based on the popular show Saturday Night Live, was a night filled with satirical skits that made students laugh at anything with a Trevecca label.

This year's host was Tommy Byler, residence director of the junior-senior apartments for men. Trevecca's student government presented the student body with a creative, comedic night filled with laughter and entertainment.

Tommy Byler, the host, talks about himself, the greatest RD.

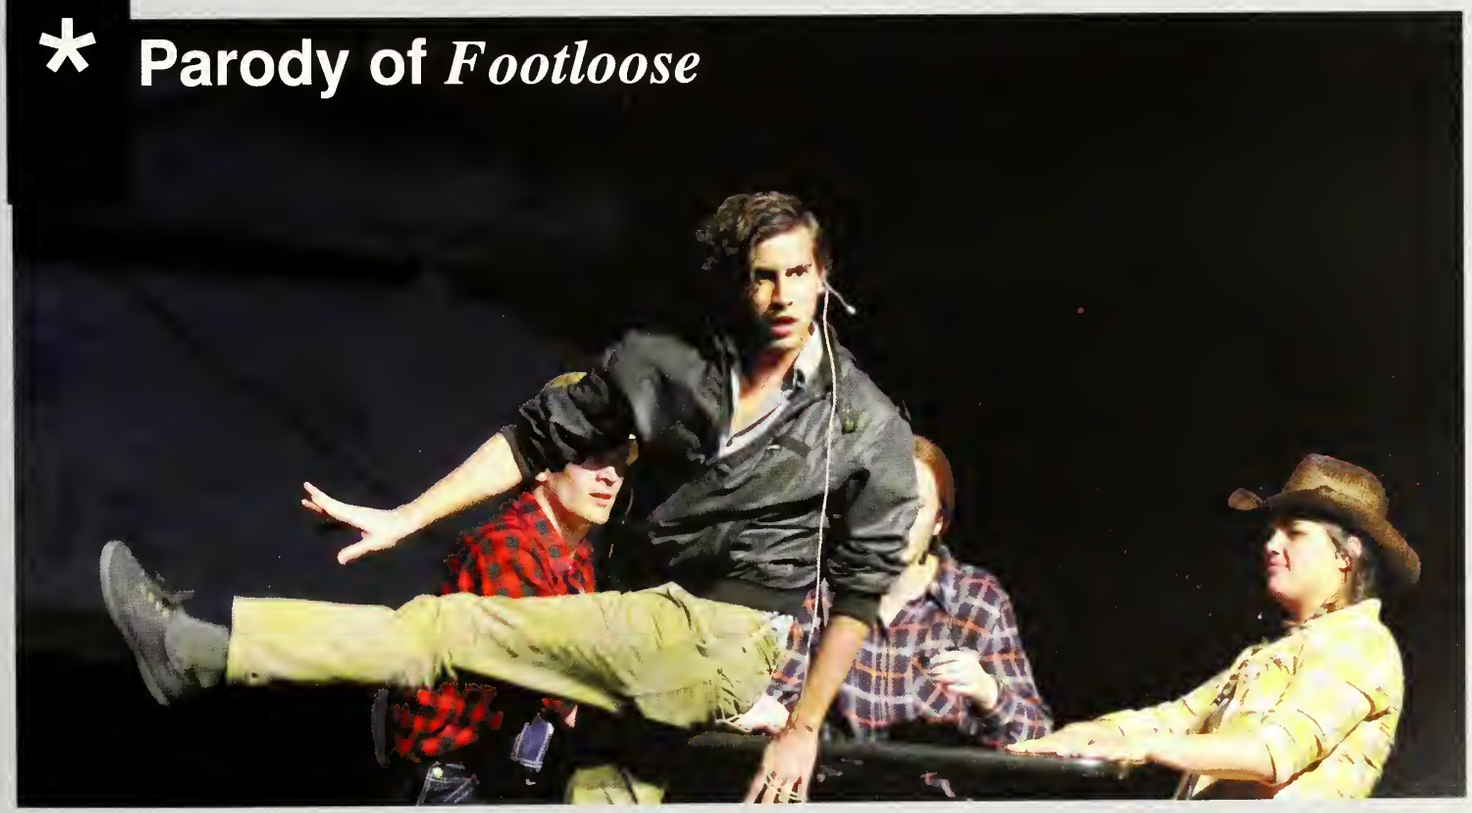

In one of the skits, an incoming Trevecca freshman, played by Emily Waller, is overwhelmed by all the couples pressuring her to get married.

Commencement
Class of 2013

The 112 commencement ceremony was an exciting event for graduating seniors and their families. The annual commencement ceremony took place on May 4, 2013, in the Boone Convocation Center this year because of rain. The ceremony began with the hymn "Be Thou My Vision" performed by Trevecca Brass, which was led by Prof. Murdock. The challenge to the graduates was given by Joseph Cole, chair of the Department of Exercise and Sport Science. Congratulations to the graduates was given by Charles A. Davis, chairperson of the Board of Trustees and also the recipient of the Lyla T. Mackey Diakonos Award, presented by Dan Boone and Stephen Pusey. The commencement ceremony concluded with awarding the Citizenship Award to graduating senior Michael Stocks and the singing of the "Alma Mater" led by graduating senior Kaitlin Crofford.

"Your work is going to fill a large part of your life, and the only way to be truly satisfied is to do what you believe is great work. And the only way to do great work is to love what you do. If you haven't found it yet, keep looking. Don't settle. As with all matters of the heart, you'll know when you find it."

"I don't think there could be a more relevant phrase with today's generation. Sure, it is in Latin, but the concept is still applicable. For us as Christians (who live and work in a learning and growing environment like we have here at Trevecca), this motto reminds us that the important thing is not simply being true to ourselves but about being true to God, who he is, and who we are supposed to be in him. This motto reminds all of us that what is important is not what we do and not what we say we do. Instead, what is most important is being to the community around us the persons whom Christ has called us to be."

- Greg Steward, Admissions Counselor

"To be rather than to seem means to be authentic and transparent in all aspects of our lives. Living this way is what God intended for us. A community that is authentic and transparent is one in which members develop deep relationships with each other and with God."

- Ashley Huber, Junior

rds of...

"Esse Quam Videri means to live in authenticity before the community. Living in authenticity means to love in openness and vulnerability with those in the community. People connect with our true selves more than they do with people we try to be. We spend too much time trying to be who we aren't in a misguided effort to change people's perceptions of who we are. C. S. Lewis explained the outcome of these efforts: 'In doing so we deceive others, but we also deceive ourselves.'"

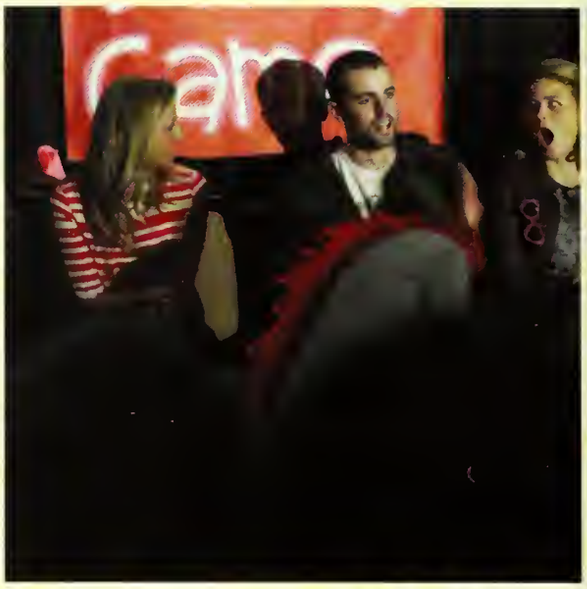

- Brent Tallman, Director of Campus Spiritual Formation

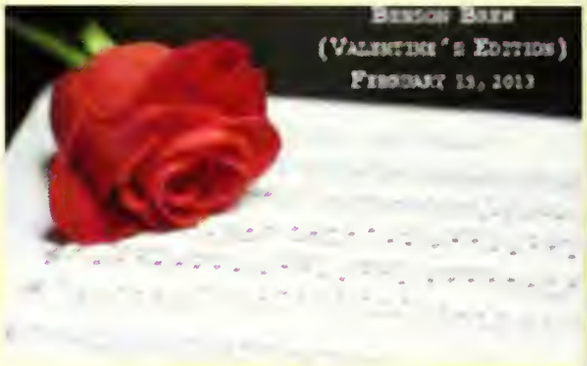

"I see Trevecca's motto being lived out by members of the Trevecca community in their desire to be open and honest, even with difficult or uncomfortable issues. For instance, my job involves working with people from a wide variety of backgrounds, and none of us can afford to hide behind a fake persona. We have to offer mercy and grace to each other because it's easier to help and be helped if we are honest about our situations."

-Ronda Lilienthal, Associate Dean of Students for Residential Life

Students enjoy a night of laughter and love at the Cupid's Big Fat Love event.

Benson Brew's Valentine Edition was a night for the romantic expression of musical art, and it gave students the opportunity to create a greater sense of community through the sharing of musical diversity and expression. Students began preparing the Benson lounge two days before the event. In addition to the music, planners also provided cookies, brownies, coffee, and hot chocolate. CJ Bradley and Logan Newkirk played their version of "Most Beautiful Girl" by Flight of the Concords and closed their hilarious event with "Bubbly" by Colby Callet. Ashley Whitaker, Craig White, and Caleb Willis played a well-performed cover of "Gone Gone Gone," by Phillip Phillips.

Valentine's Week

The baby-making station at the Cupid's Big Fat Love event allowed the students to create a baby using cloth, paper, and other materials.

As Tom Jones sang, "Love is in the air; Love is in the air everywhere I look around," students celebrated a week filled with love, a week's activities which led to Valentine's Day. The week consisted of various Valentine-themed events, such as Benson Brew's Valentine Edition, Shakespeare's Twelfth Night, and the cafeteria's Valentine's dinner. All across the campus during the whole week, female students were responding to the TWIRP event (Trevecca Woman In Rapid Pursuit) with offers to male students through car windows, invitations on cups, or cards with "TWIRP?" written on them.

TWIRP Week gives the female students opportunities to use their creativity and inspiration to plan dates for themselves and a male friend.

At Cupid's Big Fat Love event, students and their TWIRP dates played the Dating Game.

What does "Esse Quam Videri" mean to you?

Being rather than seeming for me happens when I live outside of myself. When I take my mask off, when I do something for someone else, when I apply what I have learned from God's Word throughout my life–that is when I really am being who I should be. It is not always easy–especially for such a shy girl as me, but that makes the challenge more rewarding when I– with God's strength–follow through.

Such moments while at Trevecca have found me when I volunteered for Habitat for Humanity or Room in the Inn or even singing in the choir. I've also had to step out of my comfort zone with my music business internships. They caused me to step out of the classroom and learn from experience. All of these experiences have found me finally poking my head out of my shell and doing something for someone else.

In my friendships here, I have learned I cannot let time get away from me. Time can prove difficult as we grow older and have more responsibility, but it is rewarding when I make an effort to maintain the friendships. Being is not always easy, but with God's help it is possible.

In the W

It reflects a desire to live honestly with one another. The world doesn't need people who wake up one morning and declare, "I'm going to be fake." The world needs people who wake up and declare, "I'm going to be real."

I've noticed it most in the friendships I've made, particularly at the Gathering. It's amazing the number of people who go to the altars, genuinely seeking God's will, and even more amazing are the ones who support those in prayer, even if the two parties are complete strangers. There is just this overwhelming, genuine desire to journey and struggle together in order to help everyone reach his or her potential in Christ.

-Kayla Strand
Freshman

Your actions should show that you are a Christan rather than your actions seeming to be Christian. We aren't supposed to be hypocrites.

In BibFaith class, Mike Jackson always prays before he starts his lectures, and there is always prayer before the basketball games. These individuals don't pray just to appear to be great Christians, but they actually want to honor God in every aspect of their lives. They want his help in every area no matter how small it is. There are also different service opportunities where we are encouraged to be the hands and feet of Christ and live out his love in the community.

-Taylore Lantz

It's essentially the same thought as James 2:14-26, which talks about how faith without works is dead. If you aren't actually working at what God has called you to, then you're superficial and have no substance to your being.

As a social work major, I see a huge emphasis on community service. Through programs such as the donation drive for Room in the Inn, we are challenged not just to talk about serving others but actually to serve them. We're always reminded that we aren't supposed to stay on this campus, but we are to go out, live like Christ, and be a part of the community.

-Colleen O'Connell

ords of...

What does Esse Quam Videri mean to you?

What I love about our university motto is that it is "Christian" at its very heart. It seeks to shape a community and individuals who are authentically who they say they are. The Christian journey is not about learning how to become an expert in masquerade; it is not self-deception or deception of friends and family. It is not simply learning what Jesus would do, but it is allowing the actions that we do to emerge out of who we are. It is honesty, genuineness, and authenticity so that the lives we live, the words that we say, and the commitments that we make are the overflow of who we are. Esse Quam Videri is the hope of Jeremiah lived out—the hope that God's instruction, Jesus' teaching, would not simply be written on a tablet that remains outside of us but rather written upon our hearts, our minds, so that the divine Word guides us, moves us, and forms us.

In the big picture of all that is planned for spiritual formation on campus, the Christian understanding of being Christian and not simply seeming Christian guides programs, worship services, and commitments. While our human tendency can always take what is provided and turn opportunities into one more way of seeming rather than being, the prayer and hope of Trevecca and of the chaplain's office is that every worship gathering, every MERGE group, every prayer opportunity, every spiritual deepening experience, and every ministry opportunity—both in our community and across the world—will act as a means of God's grace to shape us into being authentic, real, growing, and transformed disciples of Jesus Christ. As we participate in these experiences, from public worship to discipleship to acts of service, we dare to believe and hope that these are so much more than costumes to make us appear or seem Christian, but rather that through them the Holy Spirit will actually transform our minds and will form us into real, authentic followers of Jesus.

The primary goal for our campus is that together we will continue to grow into authentic, genuine disciples of Jesus Christ not by appearing to be Christian but by the transformation that only the Holy Spirit can make in our lives. While this goal includes the transformation of each and every individual, it extends into community transformation—the dream that we will not be multiple "Jesuses" on our campus but that together we will be the body of Christ. The Trevecca community is this kind of place: when one member suffers, we all suffer with him/her, and when one member celebrates, we all celebrate with him/her. It looks like a community that is not made up of a few "superheroes" who do great things for God, but rather an entire body that together is roaming our neighborhood, our city, and our world as the body of Christ broken and spilled out for the world. It looks like a safe place, a place where we are slow to judge and quick to forgive, where we hope for the best and are willing to be broken for each other. It looks like a refuge where masquerade and cover-up is unnecessary because healing and forgiveness are central to who we are. How do we get there? We participate together in the opportunities that the Lord provides to us—worship, discipleship, prayer, accountability, service—knowing that we cannot transform ourselves, but that the God who loves us and calls us to love him and to love our neighbor is able to do abundantly beyond what we could ever ask or imagine. We trust him as we partner with him and as we partner with our sisters and brothers.

Alyssa Danielle Ponder

Major: Social Work

Hometown: Georgetown, Kentucky

Activities: RA in Georgia Hall and Bush Apartments ,T.I.A., PR summer music group, chapel band, Social Work Club

Favorite TNU Memory: My favorite memory at Trevecca would have to be my entire freshman year where I made the most incredible friends whom I still have strong friendships with today; we participated in every event offered that year, constantly pranked each other, laughed more than I've ever laughed before, and developed friendships grounded in Christ which I had never experienced before.

Future Plans: Getting married in June and moving to Jasper, Alabama where my fiancé is a worship pastor. I plan on getting my masters and becoming a licensed clinical social worker.I want to use these credentials to be a counselor/therapist and work with women in crisis.

Dana Marie Rountree

Major: Early Childhood Education

Hometown: Sandersville, Georgia

Activities: Peer mentor, RHA

Favorite TNU Memory: One night during freshman year, my friends and I were bored, so we decided to go to the Parthenon and take pictures in the freezing cold. Why? Who knows? The experience was a blast! We ended up staying there for what seemed like hours just laughing and having a great time! Despite the cold weather, we still decided to stop and get frozen yogurt.

Future Plans: Teaching in a low socio-economic, elementary school. After teaching for a few years, I plan to come back to Trevecca and get my master's in education.

Samantha Montee McDonald

Major: Social Work

Hometown: Clarksville, Tennessee

Activities: SGA, dramatic arts,intramural soccer, dodge ball, softball

Favorite TMU Memory: Freshman year, but more specifically being in Seussical the Musical.It's probably one of the greatest things that have happened to me because not only was it a great experience, but I met my most favorite people through being a part of it.

Future Plans: I'm too indecisive to know for sure, but hopefully whatever I choose will lead me to Europe.

Emy Mae Smith

Major: Commercial Music

Hometown: Cincinnati, Ohio

Activities: Trevecca Symphony Orchestra, Songwriting Club

Favorite TMU Memory: My favorite memory was being in Trojan Idol my sophomore year. I sang "Chasing Pavements" by Adele (before she was cool!). I also met my fiancé, Hamil during Trojan Idol rehearsals. He melted my heart when he sang "The Scientist" by Coldplay. What a stud muffin!

Future Plans: I'm getting married in October and am very excited! I plan to write songs professionally and pursue a publishing deal.

Kanani Kay Myers

Major: Elementary Education

Hometown: Oak Ridge, Tennessee

Activities: Student Tennessee Education Association, Environmental Sustainability Association

Favorite TMU Memory: Speech COM with Dr. Welch my freshman year. Most of us were nervous freshmen with a lot of anxiety about public speaking, but Dr. Welch has an incredible knack for helping her students feel comfortable and confident. My list of stories is long, but mostly I am thankful for the supportive relationship I have with Dr. Welch, as well as several other professors and staff around campus.

Future Plans: For now, I plan to find a teaching job in the Nashville area, but I hope to end up in Belarus, working in an international school in Minsk, while I work with a ministry that is very dear to my heart.

Kate Elizabeth Worley

Major: Religion

Hometown: Maumee, Ohio

Favorite TMU Memory: Participating in the NCCAA National Tournament with the soccer team.

Future Plans: I am beginning my master's of theological studies at Vanderbilt this fall.

Lauren Nicole Johnson

Major: Psychology

Hometown: Nashville, Tennessee/Antananarivo, Madagascar

Activities: Peer Mentor, RA (for two years), Powder Puff

Favorite TMU Memory: I do not think that I can pinpoint just one favorite memory. God has blessed me with incredible friends and with those friends have come amazing memories. Some of my favorites would be jumping in the cascade with Erin Holt to test how deep it really is, playing truth and dare with my friends our freshman year, and the endless girls' nights with my Jo Hall RA staff.

Future Plans: I plan to get a master's degree in marriage and family therapy and eventually move back overseas.

Michael Eli Stocks

Major: Financial Mathematics

Hometown: Oxford, Mississippi

Activities: Benson RA for 3 years, men's Service Society treasurer, TIA champion

Favorite TMU Memory: Either making our Pong Shots video, playing outside during the Nashville flood, or being a part of billiards.

Future Plans: I plan to get a master's degree, become a CPA, and eventually start my own business.

Nina Lydia Carraway

Major: Music Education

Hometown: Nashville, Tennessee

Activities: Student Tennessee Education Association, Environmental Sustainability Association

Favorite TMU Memory: Madrigalians' six country tour through Europe in May of 2011. We experienced many different cultures ministering to the people of the countries through song.

Future Plans: I hope that my future plans include a profession in which I get to share my love for music and musical theatre, and enrich the lives of students through these things.

Jeanine Elizabeth Beckle

Major: Music Business

Hometown: Aurora, Illinois

Activities: Wind Ensemble, concert team, tutoring, RHA, TWLOHA-TNU, ESA

Favorite TMU Memory: At the beginning of my junior year, Sara Hopkins organized a trip for a few of us students plus staff from the CLCS to go to Memphis and see Jamie Tworkowski (the founder of the non-profit To Write Love on Her Arms) speak at a university. Our group of six had quality girl time as we drove there and back on a Tuesday after classes, ate famous Memphis barbecue, and best of all, listen to and meet my hero Jamie after four years of supporting such a life-changing cause.

Future Plans: I want to work in some division of live music to support the artists who are using their gifts and talents to bring the gospel to their lost and hurting fans.

Evans Patricia Knowles

Major: Graphic Design and Multimedia

Hometown: Ooltewah, Tennessee

Activities: Sophomore class communications director, ASB communications director, summer RA, peer mentor, yearbook designer, participant in Immerse Romania 2011

Favorite TMU Memory: There are so many great memories! Mattress sledding behind a car during a big snow freshman year. Impromptu overnight road trip to Chicago with Katelyn Hays and Dana Franchetti.
Paint-A-Palooza every year! NSLC Canada and Boston. Sorry...I can't pick a favorite.

Future Plans: Great question...I am not sure, but it'll be great and I'm excited to see what the future holds!

Briana Renee Corzine

Major: Chemistry and Biology

Hometown: Plant City, Florida

Activities: Research in Biology, intramural sports

Favorite TMU Memory: Honestly, I have the most fun whenever I'm playing catch with my man and some friends. Whether it be football, softball, or any other sport, just playing around outside with friends will always stick with me.

Future Plans: I will attend graduate school to earn my Ph.D. in biochemistry, then enter a lab to research cancer. One day I want to return to school as a professor.

Entering the Final Chapter...

Each year juniors end the year with the excitement and anticipation of beginning the final chapter of their story at Trevecca. As their senior year quickly approaches, a few juniors shared what they are most excited about.

"I am most excited about two things. The first is starting my senior practicum. I want to be a social worker for the Department of Human Services (CPS). The second is doing everything for the last time; taking those last few classes and getting the last bit of information before I go out in the world, getting messy at my last Paint-A-Palooza, laughing at the last SNL, and making those last, random college memories with friends."

-Lauren Credle
Junior, Social Work Major

"The most exciting aspect of next year is the preparation for being a pastor. Although I'm not sure if that role will be as the pastor of a local church or a role in a community setting, I'm anticipating checking out master's programs and seminaries. TWIOG will also continue to be a big part of that preparation, and I'm excited to see what God brings through TWIOG. The one thing I do know for sure is that I want to care for people and show them the truth of God's hope."

-Brett Anthony
Junior, Worship Arts Major

"Two things come to mind when I look toward my senior year. The first is experiencing Trevecca through the eyes of a 'normal' student. My first year was interesting, and the last two years I've been an RA. I certainly love my job, but I am also curious to see what life for the majority of students is like. The second thing I'm excited about is my career. My ultimate goal is to own a wellness business that includes midwifery, holistic medicines, and nutritional foods. With that goal in mind, I look forward to completing my midwife training, continuing to make contacts in my field, and learning all the information needed in order to fulfill my dream. "

-Brycellyn LaBorde
Junior, Interpersonal Communications

"There are actually a number of things I am looking forward to. Certainly on my mind is my senior year of baseball and figuring out which grad school to attend. My dream is to practice in a small clinic and help people heal so that they can succeed. Finding the grad school that will give me the tools I need for that job is going to be an exciting and crucial process. I'm also going to strive to improve my walk with God. As far as campus life goes, I'm excited to make a ton of awesome memories with friends and meet new people to include in those memories. And of course, I'll be keeping my eye out for a lovely, single lady."

Summer Mission Efforts

Each summer groups of Trevecca students and faculty members travel around the world in order to participate in different types of mission work on assignments of varying lengths of time. Each of the three groups on the Encounter trips, ten days to two weeks in length, visited one of these countries: Australia, Peru, and the Philippines. The eight participants in the Immerse Program spent 12 weeks in their assigned locations: Kosovo, Croatia, and "creative access" countries. New graduate Ashley Huber left the States in early June in order to serve a 12-month assignment as a volunteer in Croatia. She replaces two Trevecca students who returned to the States after completing their one-year commitment to that country.

China

As a Christian community, Trevecca Nazarene University believes in living out faith by serving. One way to engage intentionally is through sharing resources, gifts, talents, and lives. Each year members of the Trevecca community have the opportunity to travel to foreign countries. In May 2012 Trevecca students had the opportunity to travel to China on a cultural exchange program and to Paraguay. The team served through various activities using their talents. The China team spent time in Beijing and Southwest China and visited orphanages, taught in schools, and tutored university students in English. The Paraguay team spent its time becoming one with the culture by spending time with the locals, playing soccer, participating in church, and helping the community, through activities such as making hand scrubs for the women there.

"My experience was incredible and entirely different from anything I had ever encountered in my entire life! The people were beautiful, and the culture was amazing. One thing I learned all too well was that the love of Christ doesn't go by the same rules we use for language, culture, or law. It flows into and out of whomever and wherever it wants, and I am so incredibly grateful that it does."

Chapel

This year's chapel theme was "To Life." Tim Green asked students not be a "living zombie." He encouraged students to live and breathe in God, to inhale and exhale the breath of God. Trevecca hosted several guest speakers in chapel this year such as Chris Zimmerman, Christopher Yuan, and Scott Daniels, who was the speaker for Spiritual Deepening Week.

Scott Daniels speaks to the student body.

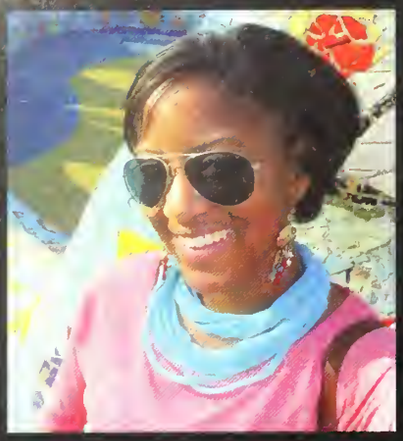

Elissa Shattuck leads in worship.

Spiritual Deepening Week

Fall Spiritual Deepening week, October 24-27, 2012, provided opportunities for students to listen to the ministry of Scott Daniels, pastor of First Church of the Nazarene in Pasadena, California, and dean of Asuza Pacific University's School of Religion. Daniels speak at Trevecca every four or five years.

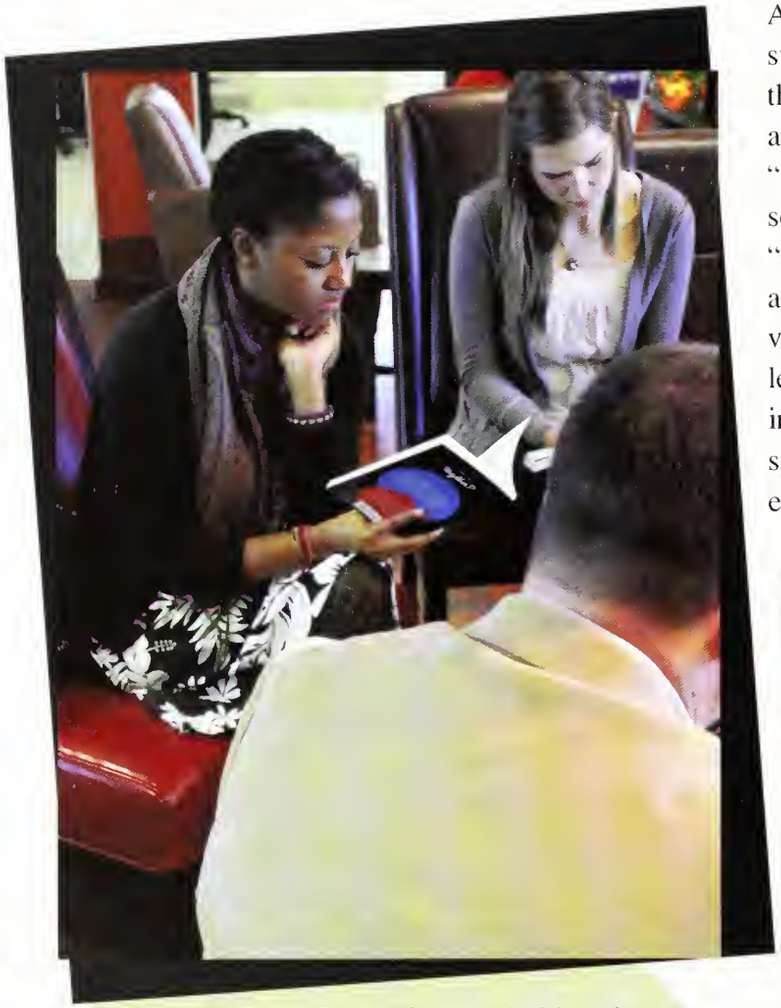

Focusing his sermons on the Gospel of Mark, Daniels began the week by declaring that the Kingdom of God is at hand and that all persons are invited to be part of the kingdom. Daniels explained that accepting God's invitation requires us to face our own conditions with honesty. He said, "In order to attain life, we mustn't fear to go to the other side of our lives with Jesus—where resurrection in Christ can take place."

Daniels' sermons went along with this year's chapel theme, "To Life." Accepting God's invitation to join in his kingdom work can help us begin to embrace and affirm life in our beings, and then we can join Chaplain Green and Daniels in the joyful affirmation "To Life."

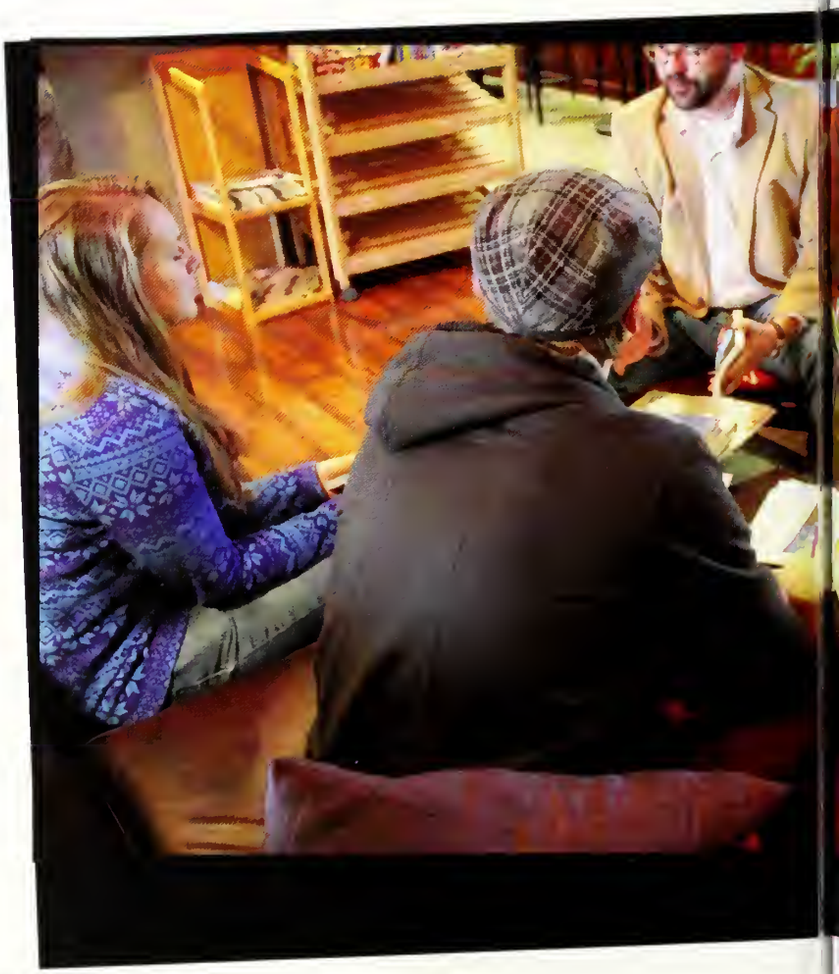

"Merge has helped me to meet new people, and it has helped my spiritual life tremendously."

-Tia Brown
Junior

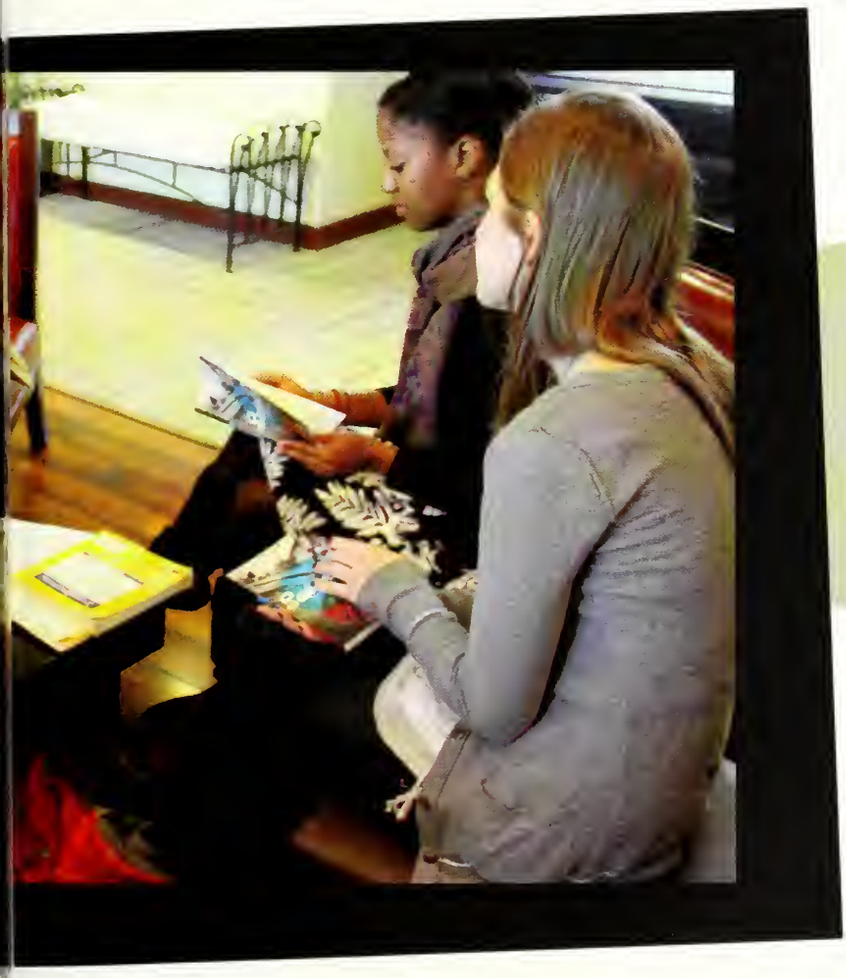

Tia Brown and Rachel Perkins focus on the Merge lesson.

At the end of the 2012 spring semester, students participated in a survey about Christian life. Survey results indicated that 65% of the student body engaged in Christian accountability with another Christian that semester. Brent Tallman explained, "Students carry a lot with them that we cannot see in a classroom setting." Tallman's goal and vision for Merge groups is to "create an atmosphere where we realize our need for accountability and engage in it. A place where we can be real, vulnerable, and honest with one another." Brent Tallman also leads a Merge group that meets every Friday morning at 10 A.M. in the Center for Leadership, Calling, and Service. His 2013 spring semester Merge group studied The Samaritan Project, an exploration of what it means to be a neighbor.

Merge

On Trevecca's campus the term Merge is another name for a program that uses small groups to help students in their Christian discipleship. Ten to fifteen different Merge groups meet weekly on campus, at different times, in different places, and for similar interests. Some Merge groups are composed of students who share similar interests–athletics, women in ministry, social justice, and others. The time, place, and even main interest of the group are left up to the leader to decide. Brent Tallman, director of Campus Spiritual Formation at Trevecca said, "Students want to have accountability in their lives on their own terms." Tallman's approach to Merge groups is one that can be described as "hands-off" because he wants the students to realize their need for accountability. Tallman describes his role as "Providing resources and having tools available for students to lead their Merge group."

Brent Tallman is the sponsor to all the Merge groups on campus and leads a Merge group of his own.

Campus Ministries

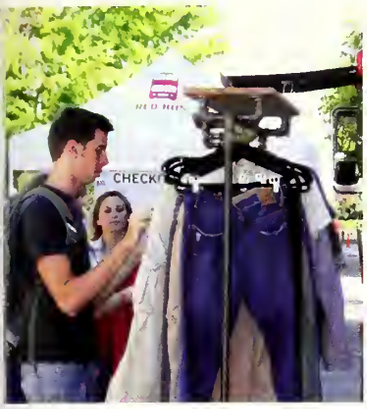

The TWIOG Project came into being on December 10, 2011. In 2012 the group won the Club-of-the-Year Award. In 2013, it became the first campus ministry of Trevecca Nazarene University. TWIOG sponsored and hosted several all-school worship nights and other community events, such as the GoDay project.

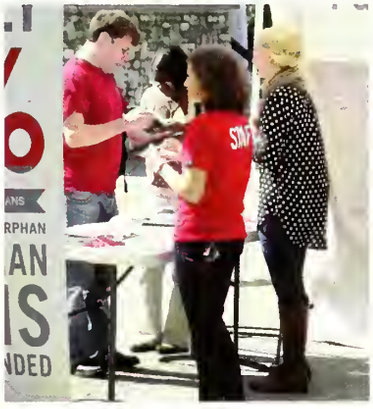

Giving to the community

Kyle Batten looks through the clothes of Red Bus.

Kristin Lester and Anna-Laura Green volunteer for the Red Bus project.

Children at KidPOWER enjoy pizza and cupcakes.

Each year Trevecca offers many opportunities for students to become involved in being a service to the community. These opportunities help students serve God, fellow students on campus, and people off campus. Through campus ministries efforts students helped at TWIOG, KidPOWER, Room in the Inn, Trevecca Towers, Open Table of Nashville, Inc., and Red Bus project.

KidPOWER is a success every year at Trevecca. Trevecca students worked with children from the surrounding communities. The children were introduced to a student mentor who hung out, played, and studied with that child.

The Red Bus Project comes to Trevecca annually, gives the students a chance to volunteer, and asks the students to donate money for orphans. Red Bus project mobilizes college students to impact the global orphan crisis. The Red Bus Project is the college program of Show Hope, a movement to care for orphans.

The GoDay event was part of the TWIOG ministry; students handed out sack lunches to the homeless.

"We started out by helping them unload tables, clothes, snacks, etc. Once the people through the line, they came to the tables and were given clothes and snacks. Then we walked around and sat with several people while they ate and heard their stories. Six of us went, and two girls ended up after the event getting a group together from Trevecca to go to the Salvation Army's Tuesday night worship service every week." Erin Cox, junior class chaplain, summarized.

Service Projects

Anna Byrne shows an informational door hanger about the End It movement relating to human trafficking.

Trevecca offers several service projects in which students can participate. These service projects help students develop service skills and a servant heart along with gaining leadership skills. Each class council is required to organize a service project for the year.

"The freshmen class's first service project was called Deck the Halls (of the Towers). We went into the Trevecca Towers on Saturday, December 1, 2012 to help residents of the Towers decorate for Christmas. Only a few residents signed up for our help, so it was a small project. I think it went great!" said freshman class president, Chris Catoe.

"During the Fall of 2012, the sophomore class participated in the Fall Festival for KidPower with a face-painting station, a game station, a craft station, and a cookie-decorating station for all the kids. In April of 2013, the sophomore class collected soft tissues, blankets, hats, and socks for cancer patients undergoing chemotherapy at the Sarah Canon Cancer Center in Nashville, Tennessee. The drive was from April 1-13." said sophomore class chaplain Anna-Laura Green.

"On Friday, March 22, the junior class partnered with the Salvation Army in the "Feeding Under the Bridge" program. It was under the Jefferson Street Bridge, from 6:00-7:30 PM. A food truck came and passed out meals to the homeless people that showed up.

The senior class president, Samantha McDonald said, "The senior class ran three blood drives for the Red Cross. The baseball team divided into two teams and had a tournament against each other; the losers had to donate blood as "punishment." So as you can imagine, we were thrilled to see so many fit men coming in to donate blood."

Trevecca has been working in Jamaica for the past four years in conjunction with Nazarene Compassionate Ministries. In the past Trevecca students have helped in the construction of the Gamerts Felder Mission Center, a Nazarene Compassionate Ministries health clinic. During spring break, March 2 to 10, students helped in the construction, and spent a significant amount of time in the mountains of Mandeville, Jamaica, with Nurse Karen, working with the children and youth of the area doing sports ministry and helping with various construction projects.

Race to the Finish

Men's & Women's Cross Country

Holly Fudge presses on with determination.

The Trevecca men's and women's cross country teams participated in the 2012 NCCAA Cross Country Championship at Cedarville University. The men finished in 23rd place, and the women finished in 25th place. The Trojans finished their season strong with several runners pushing their personal best times despite some nagging injuries and windy conditions. The 2012 team will go down as the best of the program's efforts since restarting the program three years ago because it turned in the best season performance in the three-year history of the program.

For the women's team, Katherine Carmody stepped up for her team and finished as its #2 runner even though a knee problem had kept her out of practice before the championship meet. Jaclyn Sendewicz had a personal best and finished the season as Trevecca's #1 runner. Rachel Mudd achieved another personal record. Morgan Dykes and Christina Corzine were very close to their personal records.

As for the men's team, Josh Winskie led Trevecca and finished with a 27:50.05 time, good for 88th place. Reed Mitchell finished in 116th place with a time of 28:30.90, and Cameron Savage finished 197th with a time of 30:52.67.

Chachy Winskie races towards the goal.

(Third) Richie Reichenberger, Matt Raines, Rob Ward, Austin Halstead, Jonathan Baskin, Ryan Walls, and Sam Mummert.

Men's soccer had 12 team members return and 10 new players, and the team finished with a winning season.

Men's soccer coach Danny Leavy assessed his team's 2012-2013 season: "This was the first year where all of the players on the team are the players that I recruited to the University. Team chemistry is obviously very important at the college level, but whenever there is competition, the priority is to win. Coaches at Trevecca have the flexibility to spend time building a team and helping our players develop character.

"The most important thing for players to understand is that they need to be fully aware of the opportunity that has been given to them. For me, I love it when they come to the realization that playing soccer at Trevecca is a huge privilege and a great opportunity in their life."

The 2012 Trevecca Nazarene men's soccer team attained its most wins (9) in four seasons as the team started hot, winning six of its first eight matches before closing the year at 9-9.

The Trojans, competing in their first season in the Great Midwest Athletic Conference, went 1-2 during the regular season with their first-ever conference win on September 11 against Kentucky Wesleyan by a 3-2 count. Trevecca men's soccer team closed its year with a tough, hard-fought 3-2 loss to Cedarville in the G-MAC Tournament Semifinals.

The members of the women's soccer team had much to be happy about their 2012-2013 season. "We had a much more successful season in terms of wins or losses," explained Coach Brett Armstrong. "I think this season set a new standard for the program. It showed what this team is all about—that the women on this team can be successful in the conference and compete in a national level. From now on, we will expect to perform up to this season's standard."

Armstrong added, "We talk a lot about the fact that what's going on here is bigger than soccer. I tell the women that I want soccer to be their favorite part of their Trevecca experience—but only a part of their Trevecca experience. I want them plugged into their academics, go on mission trips, and be involved in groups of their majors. I want them involved in clubs around campus. I want them to be active members of the larger campus community as well.

"This year we had a bunch of girls who loved being here and who loved playing together. That kind of big picture perspective takes some pressure off the smaller group dynamics."

In the greatest season in the program's 13-year history, the Trevecca women's soccer team won a school-record 16 matches, captured the inaugural Great Midwest Athletic Conference regular season and conference tournament titles, won the NCCAA Mid-East Region, and placed fourth nationally at the NCCAA Championships in Kissimmee, Florida. TNU ranked first in the G-MAC in goals allowed (14), shutouts (15) and GAA (0.57). The Trojans' offense had 15 players score goals this season while totaling a G-MAC-best 47 goals. TNU also assisted 31 times, tops in the conference.

Volleyball

Kristen Johnson is the GMAC Player of the Year.

The Trevecca volleyball team completed its first season in the Great Midwest Athletic Conference with a runner-up finish, won 23 matches, the second-highest total in coach Jayme Crowley's tenure, and placed several individuals on the all-conference and NCCAA Mid-East Region Teams.

Trevecca's women started the season 6-0, including a 3-1 win over No. 25 (NAIA) Freed-Hardeman. Following the hot start, the Trojans hit the road September 14 to 29. The women went 4-8 in that span, facing off against some of the best teams in the NAIA. In the G-MAC Volleyball Tournament, Trevecca rallied to defeat Urbana University in five sets before falling in a tightly contested championship match against host school Cedarville University. As a team, the Trojans led the G-MAC in digs (17.11 p/s) and were second in service aces (2.34 p/s), blocks (1.45 p/s), kills (11.65 p/s), assists (10.65 p/s), opponent hitting percentage (.173), and hitting percentage (.191).

The 2013 Trojans have the chance to be even better in coach Crowley's sixth season and second year in the G-MAC.

This year the men's basketball team played hard and finished the season strong. In March the team was able to progress to the G-MAC Championships by beating Central State University (79-75) at the semi-finals. Team leaders emerged in different roles. Marquise Rudolph was the highest in scoring field goal attempts and free throws. TJ Bell led in the highest percentage of field goal and 3-point field goal percent. Maliek Daniels led in the highest field goals made. Nicholas Drake led in the highest 3-point field goals made, and Jordan Bedwell had the highest percentage of free throws. JP Nyadaro led in the highest number of free throw attempts and the highest number of blocked shots.

According to Mary Lou Del Rio, sponsor of the squad, one of the best improvements this year's team made was the way the team worked together. "As far as working together, this year's cheerleaders are the best squad that I've sponsored," Del Rio said.

Anyone can tryout to be part of the squad. Before the basketball season starts, the members of the team participate in a two-day workshop.Anyone who attends basketball games at Trevecca knows that the cheerleaders add spirit and entertainment to the games.

"The men's golf team had a good year overall with a few ups and downs along the way. Our goal coming into the year was to win the inaugural G-MAC Championships, and we achieved that goal. With three freshmen in the lineup for the majority of the year, it was also a little bit of a rebuilding year. I am very excited about the experienced line-up that we will have coming back next year, a line-up that will include conference champion, Stephen Williams; G-MAC Freshman of the Year, Logan Martin; and several other key players who want to win another G-MAC Championship."

As TNU's athletic program makes its transition from the NAIA to NCAA Div. II, the Lady Trojan golf team experienced a year of transition as well in 2012-13.

With five new freshmen this year, along with a senior and a junior, the mix of talent, youth, and creativity made for a fun year. Along the way, personal growth and development carried over to the course in some very positive ways.

Lone senior Maddie Privott leaves a legacy of hard work and several strong performances. She was a two-time Academic All-American. Junior Ashley Randolph twice made the all-tournament team during the year. Freshmen Alexandria Qualls and Madison Campbell showed flashes of excellence at different times as well.

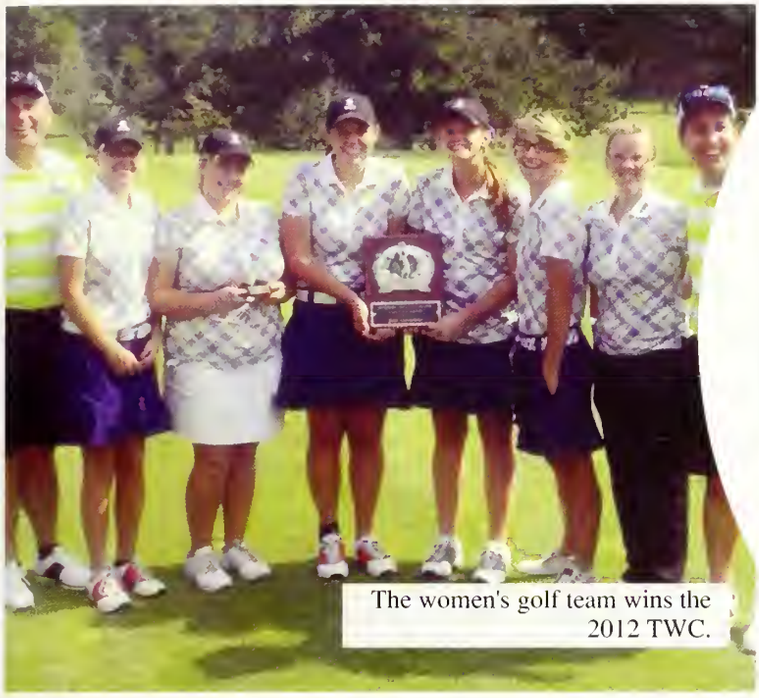

Three freshmen were particularly strong. Marlee Ingham made the all-conference team in the G-MAC and had the third-best scoring average for the season. Kaylon King made all-tournament three times and was named the G-MAC Freshman and Player of the Year for her efforts. And, after transferring in for the spring semester, Mikayla Dodson certainly made her mark with two individual medalist wins, the first at North Greenville University's tournament in South Carolina. The second came in TNU's G-MAC Championships win at Hermitage Golf Course.

The Lady Trojans captured team championships at Tennessee Wesleyan's Fall Invitational and in the spring at the first-ever Great Midwest Athletic Conference Championship. They look ready to compete at the highest level as the NCAA transition moves forward.

The Trevecca softball team had a successful season in 2013. From February to April the women competed against more than 10 teams and colleges. In May they defeated Ursuline College and Cedarville University in the G-MAC Championship. They proceeded on to the NCCAA Championship Tournament, and played against Geneva College and Central Baptist College.

Breanna Zeis had the highest batting average and the most number of home runs, and Aubrey Jordan led in the highest number of runs scored.

Clubs & Organizations

Trevecca Choirs

Gospel Choir, led by Marvin Jones, utilized historical and contemporary gospel music as well as contemporary church music to teach students how to apply fundamental, musical aspects to worship. It was also the most diverse choir on campus. As Lyndsay Tempro explained, "Gospel Choir takes 40 to 50 students of different cultural backgrounds and encourages them not just to sing pretty, but truly to worship the Lord. True worship drives us so that even in practice it does not seem like we are tucked away in the back of TCC, but rather we are part of a heavenly choir."

The invitation to the Mads' Christmas concert

Timothy Cierpke leads Choral Union, which is open to all students as well as the local community. Choral Union is a required course by all vocal and keyboard majors and minors. That requirement is a blessing because the students are able to learn from more experienced musicians, and students can help those less experienced. The group travels all over Nashville, performing larger choir works such as Messiah and Requiem at places like the Woodbine Baptist Church and the Cathedral of the Incarnation.

The 2013 Madrigalians

The Madrigalians musical ensemble, or "Mads," is led by Timothy Cierpke and is composed of 24 a cappella singers who present music from the 16th century to the present day. They perform in Nashville and on a world tour, filling churches, cathedrals, and other venues. While the group may make the singing look easy, being a member of Mads is actually time-consuming because the students are required to memorize all their music, whether it is a Christmas carol such as "In The Bleak Midwinter" or the more technical Fugue in C Minor.

Trevecca Band

Membership in the Wind Ensemble was open to all students as well as the members of the community. The group performed a wide range of contemporary and traditional music. Use of non-traditional instruments was also explored. The theme of a fall performance was nature, and when a musical selection involved rain, the players snapped their fingers and tore, crinkled, and flicked paper to create the sound of the pouring, steadiness, and pitter-patter of the rain.

Percussion players Eric Jones and Aaron Stevens focus on their part in the Wind Ensemble.

Sarah Crane and Jeanine Beckle relax before the Wind Ensemble concert.

The Sax Ensemble at the 2nd annual Sing-A-Long Messiah

Trevecca's Jazz Band, or TNAZ Jazz as it is also called, was led by Matthew Murdock and consisted of both music majors and non-music majors. The band performed both on and off-campus and presented a wide range of traditional and contemporary jazz, Latin, pop, and Christian music. A highlight for the group this year was performing at Nashville's Sing-along Messiah, where the band took the classic "Feliz Navidad" and spiced it up to turn it into a student favorite.

Emily Mae Smith plays the violin at the Sing-along Messiah.

The Trevecca Symphony Orchestra was formed in 1988 and since then has become one of the most prominent college/community orchestras in Nashville. It was comprised of both students and non-students. Part of what set TSO apart from other groups on campus was that its goal was to provide a non-competitive and friendly atmosphere by not having assigned seating, except for principal players. The orchestra hosted community events, such as its fall concert in which numbers from "Sleepy Hollow" and The Sound of Music were performed.

Trevecca's Lab Band was a special section of the music department that explored different genres each semester and rotated personnel each semester. In the spring semester the band focused on a more upbeat style and performed "Cool Nights" at the Sing-Along Messiah; each of the five members was given time for a solo. A number of their members also performed in chapel, for Trojan Idol, and at the Phil Wickham Concert.

This edition is the 89th volume of the Darda. Production of this edition was possible because of the wonderful Darda staff members who have worked very hard. They have done their jobs with passion, and it was very inspiring to me. It was my pleasure working alongside them and getting to know them a bit more each month. This Darda is a "history book" for the student body, a reminder of the staff's hard work and memories of this year. Being the editor has been an amazing experience overall. Thank you to all my staff for your dedication and also to those who helped with this book.

The Trevecca Student Government Assembly (SGA) consisted of the Associated Student Body (ASB) officers and the officers of the four classes (freshman, sophomore, junior, senior).

SGA met every Monday night during the school year in order to discuss issues of importance to the student body, including campus-wide social events, service projects, and spiritual initiatives. SGA worked closely with the Office of Student Development, with the help of Matt Spraker, associate dean of students for community life.

The Student Government Association of Trevecca Nazarene University was a body of elected students actively representing the diversity of student interests within the Trevecca Community, and providing leadership through service.

TrevEchoes

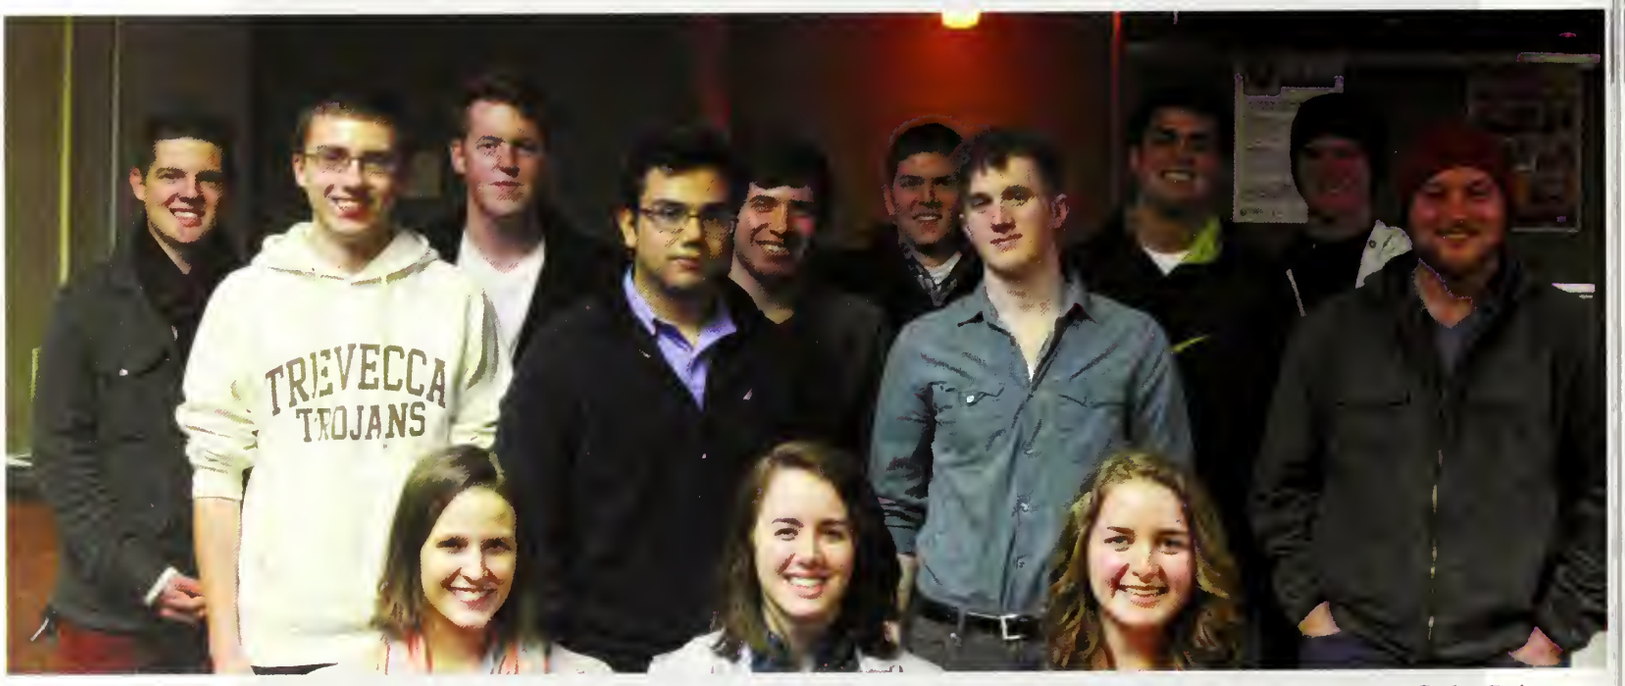

TrevEchoes is the student-run newspaper that takes seriously the charge to educating and providing useful information to the students of Trevecca via print and online mediums. It hinges on many working parts and people, many of whom are not skilled in journalistic writing.

This is why TrevEchoes is great because it is comprised of students who want to know more and have the courage to ask questions. Their answers are then given to the student body within the pages of TrevEchoes. Our goal was to make a publication that Trevecca and its alums can be proud of, one that attempts to address the difficult questions and always asks why.

Being editor has led me to a greater realization of the work and dedication it takes to produce a publication. It's been very rewarding, and being able to watch as people pick up the TrevEchoes and learn more about their school and the people that make up the school never gets old.

Micah Mandate

Micah Mandate is a student-led magazine that focuses on issues of social justice. The name comes from Micah 6:8: "He has shown you, O man, what is good. And what does the Lord require of you? To act justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with your God." Contrary to what some may understand, Micah Mandate does not focus solely on social issues that directly affect the student body, such as refugee students on campus. Instead, Micah Mandate seeks to make students aware of global issues by highlighting organizations and individuals with which Trevecca collaborates or has contact, such as End Slavery TN and Global Support Mission.

Brennen Finchumm, editor-in-chief and senior social justice major, explained what he has learned from his experience with Micah Mandate: "Working with the magazine has helped me better understand how social justice and the heart of God go together and how I am supposed to fit into all of that. I am supposed to give a voice to those whom the world wants to silence; whether that person is a billionaire in Franklin or the poorest in Napier, there is no difference. The magazine has opened the door for me to combine my journalism skills with my social justice passion and give a voice to the voiceless."

TWIOG

Trevecca offers various ways for students to participate in events that give them a chance to become closer as a community, and no group accomplishes this goal better than TWIOG. On September 12, TWIOG initiated the theme "Life Stories." TWIOG encouraged students to recognize the fact that most people have similar struggles. This student-run group was founded with the purpose to raise awareness of the similarity of people's personal problems and to create a greater sense of community within Trevecca.

MISSION STATEMENT: To share with our world (the people we encounter on a daily basis) the LOVE of Christ. To break down the walls of fear, self image, and pride that society has taught us to build up. It is time to be REAL. Real with who we are, but most importantly, real with who God is making us to be. To share a LIFE and a LOVE from CHRIST, with our world. Freedom is To Move Forward In Love.

Futuro, sponsored by State Farm Insurance, is a program of the Tennessee Latin American Chamber of Commerce. As a professional association for Latin college students, Futuro works to help Latino college students prepare for professional careers by helping them with career readiness, internships and mentoring, and community building. Futuro organizations were started at Tennessee State University, Lipscomb University, VolState Community College, Nashville State Community College, and Trevecca.

"Futuro is a student-led organization that empowers and prepares future professionals for success. Futuro provides students with the opportunity to network and find internships, resources, and job connections. Students grow, learn, gain experience, and become better prepared for life past graduation. Futuro hopes to encourage Latino youth to receive a degree and begin a professional career. At the end of the day, we are, more than anything, a familia."

MISSION STATEMENT: To build relationships with churches and students while representing Trevecca with our Christ-like attitudes on and off stage.

MISSION STATEMENT: To fulfill our servant hood to Christ through the means of leading worship in order to present an opportunity for higher Christian education.

Peer Mentors

The peer mentor role is a student leadership position that is vital for the integration of new students into the Trevecca community. The essence of this opportunity is the intentional and committed pursuit of a healthy relationship with others with the intent of assimilating new students into college life. Peer mentors are recognized for their Christ-like example, desire to do ministry, compassion, and perseverance in the leadership of their peers. Peer mentors have been helpers and leaders for the incoming freshmen. They actively engage in forming friendships, which help many freshmen feel at home at Trevecca.

Taylor Foster, Hope Kenerly, Katie Duckhorn, and Sarah Callis are excited about being peer mentors.

Kelsey Winesett is the peer mentor of the Lavender Leap group.

Kelsey Winesett and Taylor Foster are ready to help incoming freshmen move in on welcome day.

Tim Scott is exhausted after a Leap event.

"In my group, Dean Matt Spraker is our mentor, and senior Jeff Byler and I are the peer mentors. We have sixteen fun freshmen guys and girls! It is a really fun class. We meet twice a week. They take lots of assessments, such as the Meyers-Brigg Type Indicator (MBTI) and the Strengths Quest. With their results from these assessments, they learn a lot about themselves, and who they are as a Christian, a student, a leader, and how to be successful in every other role they play. Trevecca's mission statement is 'Trevecca Nazarene University is a Christian Community providing education for leadership and service.'"

RAs and RHA

Everyone who lives in Trevecca's residence halls belongs to the Residence Hall Association (RHA). RHA involves residents by encouraging inter-hall cooperation; discussing and promoting residence hall issues; and providing a means for improving the educational, social, and cultural standards of living in the residence halls by encouraging a Christ-like lifestyle in all of its members and by providing an opportunity for its members to assume responsibility for governing residential life.

The executive council of the RHA sponsors projects and activities which encourage communication and cooperative living between the residential areas. In 2012-2013 RHA sponsored the following events: all-school activities, such as the Hawaiian Luau, All-School Late-Night Broom Hockey, Corn Maze, and Late Night Easter Egg Hunt. Each residence hall elects a hall council which is involved in planning educational programming and social activities, providing leadership and role modeling, and serving as a judicial body for their fellow residents.

Oliver!

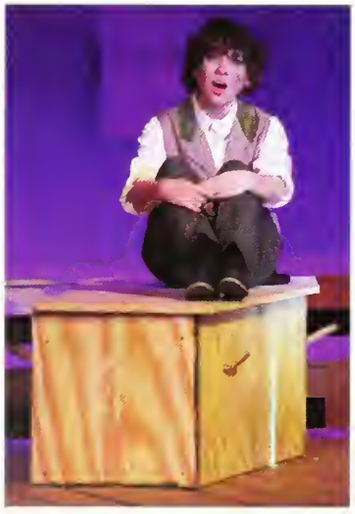

Fall Drama 2012

Oliver!, inspired by Charles Dickens' Oliver Twist, came to Trevecca in Lionel Bart's highly acclaimed Broadway musical. Performances ran from October 25 to November 3 and provided one of the highlights of Homecoming. The cast of 32 devoted much time and effort to this production. "Too many hours to count," Jonathan Ailsworth said.

Cast of Characters
(in order of appearance)

1. Tyler Manivong as Duke Orsino
2. Joshua Flatt as Romeo/Sir Topas
3. David Adams as Valentino/Officer
4. Kara Dekker as Captain/Officer
5. Rebecca Botter as Viola/Cesario
6. Rachel Hampton as Maria
7. Zach Allen as Sir Toby Belch
8. Joey Hutton as Sir Andrew Aguecheek
9. Katie Ziegler as Feste/Gardener
10. Kristen Koon as Feste/Chef
11. Carmel Johnson as Feste/Maintenance Man
12. Sydney Maxfield as Olivia
13. T.J Haynes as Malvolio
14. Montgomery Sparrow as Sebastian
15. Angelo Tate as Antonio

Oliver, played by Rebecca Botter, sings "Where is Love?"

Oliver and the workhouse boys want more food.

Left: Widow Corney and Mr.Bumble, played by Lydia Carraway and Zach Allen, get in an argument.

Top: The cast sing "Oom Pah Pah!" in the bar named The Three Cripples.

Bottom: Fagin, played by TJ Haynes, encourages his workhouse boys to listen to him.

Bill Sykes, played by Zach Farnum, scares everyone in the bar with his thundering voice.

Mr. and Mrs. Sowerberry, played by Zach Allen and Linsey Cravens, and Mr.Bumble, played by Joey Hutton, talk about funerals.

Not to be Forgotten...

The 2012-2013 school year also included events that were unforgettable and should not be omitted from the history of that year. One of these events was the lighting of the campus Christmas tree (11-14); students, faculty, and staff gathered to enjoy carols, roast chestnuts, drink hot chocolate, and have a picture with Santa Claus (12). Another event was the "I am Second" chapel, which featured athletes Trae Weiss, Haylee Rogers (6), Tennessee Titans punter Brett Kern (4), Persephonie Devereaux, and former American Idol star Danny Gokey (5). The students had a chance to hear what it meant to put themselves second and Christ first in their lives. The last two events were, of course, the spontaneous dance party in Waggoner Library (1-3) and the annual TNT. The 2013 TNT (10) featured John Luke (9) and Sadie Robertson (8) from the show Duck Dynasty on A&E and Jon Acuff (7), the author of Stuff Christians Like and Quitter.

TIA Intramurals

Jeff Byler was the director of TIA for the 2012-2013 year. Trevecca Intramural Association (TIA) helps students build many friendships while they compete in sport activities for the title of champion. Intramural sports for the year's competition included softball, dodgeball, basketball, volleyball, and football. TIA is designed for maximum participation from the students, and helps to creative a community with in the student body.

Jeff Byler, last year's HR Derby winner, passes on the coveted Golden Bat to the 2012 TIA HR Derby winner, CJ Bradley.

"Intramurals gives you a chance to play against other student teams. It is a lot of fun and teaches you a thing or two about teamwork."

Axel Mysja, Araz Khiziryan, and Dibran Rexhepi discuss the preparations for Taste the Nations with Roy Philip.

The students enjoy the food from different countries at Taste the Nations.

A highlight of Taste the Nations is the recitation of a familiar passage of Scripture by ISAT members in each person's native language. This year's verses were Galations 2:19-20.

The girls perform an Afghan dance in traditional clothing.

ISAT

International Student Association of Trevecca (ISAT) hosted Taste the Nations for the seventh consecutive year on April 5, 2013, in the Tarter Student Activity Center.

ISAT wanted this event to educate students about the various cultures represented on campus. Taste the Nations included fun and interactive ways for students to learn about the rituals and cultural norms of their fellow students.

Students particularly enjoyed the hysterical skit portion of the show, which focused on the true culture of various countries and not their stereotypes.

The event also featured food samplings from 10 countries, songs, dances, stories, and scripture readings in almost 20 different languages.

Samosas are a fried or baked pastry with a savory filling, such as spiced potatoes, onions, peas, lentils, ground lamb, ground beef, or ground chicken. They are a popular appetizer or snack in South Asia.

Jiyar Adeny and two of her friends from neighboring schools wait to perform a Kurdish dance.

"May the God who gives endurance and encouragement give you a spirit of unity among yourselves as you follow Christ Jesus, so that with one heart and mouth you may glorify the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ"

Romans 15:5-6

THANK

Esse Quam Videri

you

I would first like to thank God for all the blessings he has given me this year and for being with me every step of the way. I am very thankful to have had the opportunity to serve as your yearbook editor for 2012-2013. It has been a journey that has taught me a lot. I enjoyed getting to know a lot of people whom I met through working on this yearbook. I could not have done this without the amazing, hard-working staff and our sponsor Jan Greathouse, who has always been dedicated and supportive from the start. I cannot forget my friends as well, who were always there for me when I needed to vent and kept me laughing on the roughest days.

In reflecting upon this past year, Trevecca has truly fulfilled its name as "binding together in love." The community here has been more supportive than I could ever ask for.

Let us remember to love one another just as Christ loved us.

"By this everyone will know that you are my disciples, if you love one another."

-John 13:35

Sincerely,

Mounika Ramaji

The 2013 Darda was printed by Herff Jones, Inc., which published 650 copies of this 180-page yearbook. Mary Harris was our representative. Student and faculty photographs were taken by Kristen Steele, Griffin Dunn, Mounika Ramaji, Ashley Hoffner, Breanna Wright, Sunny Ramaji, and Jill Springer. Candids were taken by the Darda staff and other contributers, such as Trevor Lubiens and Austin Lord. All sports photos were taken by Greg Ruff and Ashley Hoffner. All of the copy for the yearbook was written by Darda staff writers Aaron Palmer, Rebecca Broeker, Sunny Ramaji, and Esteban Porras. Some copy was submitted by coaches, students, and faculty members. The opening and closing were written by Mounika Ramaji. The prologue was written by Dan Boone. The dedication was written by Aaron Palmer.
